Education services for infants
Shogakukan's infant classroom Dora Kids

Since 1986, the company has been offering preschool classes for infants and toddlers from the age of one at major department stores and commercial facilities nationwide, and in April 2021, launched the Dora Kids Online Course, an interactive educational service.

As a classroom where children who will live in the future can develop the ability to carve out their own future, so-called "non-cognitive ability," Dora Kids provides opportunities for Proactive learning through repeated experiences that engage the mind while interacting with others in a group setting.
